McCormick theological seminary, Chicago.

In 1829 the Synod of Indiana established a theological department at Hanover academy (now Hanover college) Hanover, Ind., which was commonly known as The Indiana theological seminary. In 1840 it was removed to New Albany, Ind., where it functioned under the name The New Albany theological seminary until 1857. In 1858 the control of the seminary was transferred to the General assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., and in 1859 it was moved to Chicago and incorporated as The Presbyterian theological seminary of the Northwest. In 1868, in recognition of the endowment by Cyrus H. McCormick, the name was changed to McCormick theological seminary of the Presbyterian church. During the period 1829 to 1943 the official name was Presbyterian theological seminary. In 1943 it was changed to McCormick theological seminary.
